

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

---

Thomas Ayers received his MLIS from Rutgers, New Brunswick in 2007. He is currently employed as a librarian at Cumberland County Library in Bridgeton, New Jersey.

John M. Budd is Professor and Associate Director with the School of Information Science and Learning Technologies at the University of Missouri-Columbia. He has published in Progressive Librarian previously and believes that librarianship can be a model of progressivism.

John Buschman is Associate University Librarian for Collections Development, Preservation, and Scholarly Communication at Georgetown University Library in Washington DC. He is the author of recent articles in Library Quarterly on Habermas and a challenge to Foucault, and an article in JASIST on democratic theory.

Diane Campbell, Instructor-Librarian, is the Moore Library liaison to the Departments of Business Policy and Environment, Economics, Finance, Management and Human Resources, and Marketing. She has a B.A. in History from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a Master's in Library and Information Science from the School of Communication, Information and Library Studies at Rutgers University. Diane received her MLIS in 2004 and began her career with an academic year appointment to the Social Science Reference Center of Princeton University. Diane will complete her Master's in Business Administration at Rider in 2009.

Patricia Dawson, Assistant Professor I-Librarian, is the Moore Library liaison to the Environmental Sciences, GeoSciences, Marine Sciences, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics departments. She has a B.A. in Biology, a M.S. in Microbiology, and a M.L.S. from the School of Communication, Information and Library Studies at Rutgers University. Prior to her academic appointment to Rider University in 2006, Pat was the Reference Information Specialist at Burlington County College, Pemberton, NJ, and worked as a Reference Analyst at Merck after graduating from the Rutgers MLS program.

Mark Hudson is Head of Adult Services at Monroeville Public Library in suburban Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Al Kagan is the African Studies Bibliographer at the University of Illinois Library at Urbana/Champaign. He represents the ALA Social Responsibilities Round Table on the ALA Council.

Marcel A.Q. LaFlamme is a Masters degree candidate at the Simmons Graduate School of Library and Information Science in Boston, MA. He is attending Simmons on a scholarship from The Point Foundation, and he also serves as co-chair of the campus chapter of PLG. One year from now, Marcel expects to be working at a small public library in Kansas or Nebraska. He likes places that are flat.

Kathleen de la Peña McCook is distinguished university professor at the University of South Florida where she teaches 'Human Rights and Librarianship.' She is a member of the editorial board of the Progressive Librarian and was named the Trejo Latino Librarian of the Year in 2002.

Douglas Raber is an Associate Professor at the University of Missouri where he teaches classes about intellectual freedom and the politics of information. He has experience in academic and public libraries and is the author of Librarianship and Legitimacy: The Ideology of the Public Library Inquiry and The Problem of Information: An Introduction to Information Science.

Ruth Rikowski teaches at the University of Greenwich and at London South Bank University. She is also the Commissioning Editor for Chandos Publishing, has been an information professional for over 25 years working in both the public and private sectors (mostly in public sector). She is on the Editorial Board of Information for Social Change and was co-editor from 2004-06. She and her husband maintain a website, The Flow of Ideas, at <http://www.flowideas.co.uk/>.

Mark Rosenzweig is one of the founders of the Progressive Librarians Guild and its journal Progressive Librarian. He is a Councilor at large of the American Library Association. He is currently teaching in Zhenjiang, China.

Dan Schiller, a historian of telecommunications and information, has taught at Temple University, UCLA, UCSD and the University of Illinois. He is the author of several books, including Digital Capitalism (MIT Press, 1999), and the just-released How To Think about Information (University of Illinois Press, 2007).

Samuel Trosow is an Associate Professor at the University of Western Ontario where he holds a joint appointment in the Faculty of Information & Media Studies and in the Faculty of Law. He teaches in the areas of intellectual property, jurisprudence, urban law, information policy, the political economy of information and foundations of library and information science and is the co-author of Constraining Public Libraries: the World Trade Organization's General Agreement on Trade in Services (with Kirsti Nilsen, Scarecrow Press, 2006).